DR. BAKER AND WIFE AUTO VICTIMS

TWO FRIENDS KILLED WITH EX-GOV. HANLY NEAR DENNISON, OHIO

Former East Liverpool Physician and Wife and Indiana Prohibition Leader Meet Death When Train Strikes Machine—Mrs. Baker Was Daughter of David Wallace, Brick Contractor.

Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Baker, of Kilgore, former residents of East Liverpool, and Frank Hanly of Indianapolis, former governor of Indiana and candidate for president on the prohibition ticket in 1916, were killed when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train at the Philadelphia Road crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad six miles east of Dennison at 7:40 o'clock Sunday morning.

Word of the death of the two former East Liverpool residents was received Monday morning by Mrs. William Swaney, 508 East Sixth street, an intimate friend of Mrs. Baker. The message was received by long distance telephone from a farmhand on the Baker farm near Kilgore. Mrs. J. S. Noah, Walnut street, an aunt of Mrs. Baker, received a telegram from the Baker home later in the morning. Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday morning from the Baker residence.

Dr. Baker maintained offices in the Myers building, later the Y. W. C. A. building in East Fifth street. Mrs. Baker is survived by her parents, residing in Canton; one sister, Miss Doris, Canton, and a brother, John Wallace, of Pittsburgh, formerly of the law firm of Vordrey and Wallace.

Mrs. Wallace, mother of Mrs. Baker, is spending the summer at the Baker home, while Mr. Wallace is working in Mansfield.

The Bakers met the former Governor Hanly at Dennison at 6:45 o'clock Sunday morning and were driving to their home where Mr. Hanly was to be a guest for the day when the accident occurred. Dr. Baker, who was at the wheel of the car, waited at the railroad crossing until an eastbound freight had passed and then drove directly into the path of a westbound freight. The train was running down grade at a rapid rate of speed when the crash occurred.

All three occupants of the demolished machine sustained fractured skulls and crushed bodies. They were rushed to the Twin City hospital at Dennison where Mr. Hanly died at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, Mrs. Baker at 11:30 o'clock and Dr. Baker at 3:30 p. m.

Arrangements were being made Monday to remove the body of Mr. Hanly to Indianapolis.

G. O. P. SWEEP OF MID-WEST PREDICTED BY ILLINOIS MAN

Congressman Mason Says Harding-Coolidge Victory Will Be Overwhelming.

CONFERS WITH NOMINEE

Situation In Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee Also Encouraging.

By J. BART CAMPBELL.

MARION, August 2.—A Republican sweep of the middle west, with Democratic strongholds bordering the "solid south" like Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee turning Republican because of the "far-reaching unpopularity of the Wilson administration"—this was the prediction today of Representative-at-Large William E. Mason, a former United States senator, of Illinois, who went over various aspects of the campaign with Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for president, as they sat together on the Harding front porch.

Mason was fresh from a mass meeting of Friends of Irish Freedom at Cincinnati, and from a tour of Illinois, Iowa and Ohio. He declared Illinois could "go all of 200,000 Republican."

"The victory of Harding and Coolidge will be the most overwhelming since Grant's time," Mason said. "I have participated in every campaign since that which resulted in Grant's election, and I have never seen one get under way so well for the Republican party as this one has."

"If only because of article X of the league of nations covenant, to which Gov. Cox, the Democratic nominee for president, stands committed like his illustrious predecessor at the white house, the friends of Ireland in this country will vote the Republican ticket," Mason continued. "Those Americans who want Ireland freed will support Harding because they know Cox is committed to the Wilson program of 'internationalism,' and that article X, which is the heart of that program, and not the heart of the world, would bind Ireland to England and bind the American people to help prevent the Irish people from ever securing their freedom."

"I observe Gov. Cox refuses to reply to the pointed questions put to him by Senator Harding regarding whatever pledges he made to President Wilson respecting our foreign policies. No wonder. Gov. Cox cannot answer these questions frankly and fully because he would ruin himself politically if he attempted to do so. He will doubtless continue to evade and equivocate."

Mason said wherever he had gone recently in middle-western states he had learned of "shoals of Democrats."

GOOD NEWS FOR OHIO SENATOR

Every State West of Mississippi for Harding, Says F. C. Hicks.

MARION, Aug. 2.—Every state west of the Mississippi will be for Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for president, Representative Frederick C. Hicks, of the Oyster Bay, N. Y., district, famous as the home of the late Col. Roosevelt, predicted today after he conferred with the senator here.

Hicks said since Harding's nomination he had toured Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Washington and Oregon.

"There was some disappointment in the west over the failure to nominate Senator Hiram Johnson," Hicks said, "but the people are now satisfied, and Harding is growing with them very fast."

Hicks' prediction followed one by Representative-at-Large William E. Mason, of Illinois, who also saw Senator Harding today, that the Republicans would sweep the middle-west and capture Democratic strongholds like Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee.

CONSPIRACY TO HOLD UP HIGH PRICES, CHARGE

Manufacturers and Jobbers of Clothing Accused by Federal Department.

TO FIX RESPONSIBILITY

Close the Mills Arbitrarily; Threaten Dealers, is Claim.

WASHINGTON, August 2.—A conspiracy to hold up high prices of wearing apparel exists and is being supported by manufacturers and jobbers of clothing, according to charges made in a formal statement issued by the department of justice today.

"It only remains to fix personal responsibility, before vigorous prosecution is begun," the statement declared. "Mills have been closed arbitrarily, and the closing of these mills has been used to threaten retail dealers that if they do not buy on the present market their supplies will be curtailed and even higher prices will prevail."

Manufacturers and jobbers of wearing apparel are "using the same tactics as were used during the recent speculative period," the statement declared. "A carefully planned campaign" is being carried on to force retail dealers to buy at the present market prices," the statement said. And in many cases a guarantee is given against a decline in price in violation of the Lever act.

The retail dealers have refused to buy at present prices, according to the department of justice, and the alleged conspiracy has been formed to force and intimidate retail dealers to buy at present prices and thereby to maintain these prices.

The public, by its refusal to buy during the spring and summer months, has created a condition which should result in lower prices for clothing, according to the department of justice, but manufacturers and jobbers have "a well defined campaign" to maintain the prices reached during the speculative period.

A thorough investigation is now under way, the department announced, and prosecutions are expected within a short time.

COPS, FIREMEN GET PAY RAISE

Fifteen Dollar Salary Increase is Effective This Month.

Members of the East Liverpool and fire departments from the two chiefs downward, will draw an additional $15 on their salary this month, as a result of action taken by city council at a special meeting Saturday night.

An emergency ordinance granting police and firemen an increase of $15 per month was passed under suspension of rules Saturday night. No provision was made in the ordinance, however, for an advance in the salary of city hall janitor.

The janitor was mentioned for inclusion in the general wage advance at the regular meeting of council last Monday. It later developed, however, that the janitor draws his salary from the service fund, while police and firemen are paid from the safety fund.

Some action toward granting the janitor a separate wage advance will likely be taken at the next regular meeting of council.

NOTE HOLDERS DEMAND THAT PONZI SETTLE

Boston Financial Wizard's Offices Besieged After Charges Are Published.

MEETS ALL OBLIGATIONS

Publicity Man Alleges Man Who Made Fortune is Insolvent.

BOSTON, Aug. 2.—Apparently alarmed by the published charge that Chas. Ponzi was insolvent, hundreds of note holders besieged his offices today demanding their money back. The throng began early in P. M. alley and by 9 o'clock the line extended to Court Square, with a squad of police officers keeping order.

While the offices did not open up for payments until after 9 o'clock the employees who were on hand expressed the greatest confidence in their employer and attempted to instill this confidence into the crowd.

The charges, contained in a copy-right article in a morning newspaper, were written by Wm. H. Mcmasters, who has been employed as a publicity man by Ponzi.

Ponzi said that to prove he was the bearer of notes issued by the Solesolvent, he would continue to pay off certificates Exchange company until he had met all outstanding obligations.

Ponzi declared that the publicity man's charges were prompted by revenge growing out of the disposition of $2,200 which the financier had given him for insertion of advertising matter. The serious nature of the charges, Ponzi said, warranted consultation with his attorney. Suit for damages may be brought against those responsible for the "unsupported accusations," Ponzi said.

"There is cash enough for everyone," said Ponzi's assistants as the paying off went on during the forenoon. "We will pay, pay, pay until the last demand is met."

Speculators were on hand among the crowds bidding for notes. Every note and demand of withdrawal was met promptly by Ponzi's colleagues.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The allies have decided to clamp down a more drastic blockade upon soviet Russia if the armistice negotiations fail. It was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon. Preparations to this end already are proceeding.

Official circles make no secret of the fact that neither Great Britain nor France is prepared to go to war against Russia. Any measures that are taken must be of an economic nature.

The foreign office and the war office are still without official news as to the armistice negotiations, which were to have been opened by the Poles and Russians at Baranovitchi on Saturday. Unofficial dispatches, however, reported that the Russians would not deliver their terms until Wednesday.

The Russians are still advancing in Poland in the direction of Warsaw. Eight thousand red cavalrymen engaged in outflanking movements, have reached a point half way between Grondo and Warsaw, or less than 75 miles from the Polish capital. M. Krassin and M. preparing to support the Republican ticket.

Mason described the situation in Ohio as "most encouraging." He said Gov. Cox had never "won a straight-away fight against the Republicans in his own state."

When the governor was first elected in 1912 his Republican opposition was split by the defection of the Progressives led by the late Colonel Roosevelt from the Republican party. Two years later, when Willis was defeated by Cox by 29,000, Harding was elected United States senator by 103,000.

In 1916, Cox profited, according to Mason and other Republicans, by the Democratic slogan, "He kept us out of war." Cox won by only 5,000 then.

In 1918, Cox won by 12,000 Hamilton county, on the "wet and dry" issue, alone giving him a 16,000 majority. The Republicans claim Harding, against whom Cox has never been pitted directly before, will carry Hamilton county by 15,000. They are also claiming Democratic counties like Richland, Marion, Fairfield, Darke, Allen and Erie for Harding, and that he will carry Ohio by nearly 100,000.

reopen the negotiations for a resumption of commercial relations between Great Britain and soviet Russia until official news is received from Poland that a truce has been signed.

The soviet government at Moscow has not yet replied to the British note, sent during the Boulogne conference, proposing a general peace conference in London.

The Poles are working feverishly to reorganize their army for the defense of Warsaw. Several generals have been displaced and it is understood that a new high command is being formed.

It is understood that the governments of the Baltic states have called a conference for tomorrow, but officials of the British government said that they did not know its object.

While continuing the drive against the Poles, the Russians are still waging war in the Caucasus. Armenia is reported to have asked for an armistice to stem the Russian invasion of that country. But Moscow refused this.

PARIS, August 2.—Reports of serious dissensions between the soviet government at Moscow and the Russian army high command in the field, are doubted by the French foreign office. It was stated at the foreign office today that no official information has been received concerning a breach between the civil and military authorities in Russia and that the reports were evidently intended for propaganda.

FEET CUT OFF ON RAILROAD

Abraham Anneson, Conductor, Injured In Accident Here.

Abraham Anneson, aged 36, of Rochester, employed as a conductor on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division, lost both his feet in a railroad accident in the yards here yesterday morning about 10 o'clock, when the rear wheels of a freight car passed over both his legs, crushing them at the ankles.

The accident, it is believed, was due to a misunderstanding of signals. Anneson was in charge of the shifting of a string of cars in the yards. Preparatory to moving the cars, Anneson, who was standing in the rear of the train, gave the signal to move forward, it is claimed. A new brakeman, who caught Anneson's signal to relay it to the engineer, it is said, mentioned the "back up" signal. Anneson was standing directly in the rear of the train after he had given his signal and the last car struck him when the engine began to move, knocking him onto the tracks. Before he could recover himself the wheels of the car had passed over his legs, badly crushing them.

In a special train, the injured man was taken to East Liverpool. From the station there he was conveyed to the City hospital in the Surgis ambulance. Both his feet were amputated at the ankles by Dr. Hobbs.

SIX-YEAR OLD CHILD DIES IN AUTOMOBILE

Helen Louise, the six-weeks' old daughter of Mrs. Charles McPeake, of Fourth and Commerce streets, died following an attack of cerebral hemorrhages yesterday morning while riding with her parents in their automobile, near Highlandtown.

Mr. and Mrs. McPeake had started early Sunday morning in their machine on a trip to Salineville where they expected to spend the day with relatives. When approaching Highlandtown the mother noticed blood coming from the infant's nose. Mr. McPeake immediately turned the machine and headed for the city to secure medical aid, but the child was dead before a physician was reached. The baby was taken to the office of Dr. Tarr who conducted the examination.

HEALTH BOARD URGES WAR ON RATS HERE

The general destruction of rats and mice is urged in a communication from the state board of health to the Wellsville health board. The state officials, claiming that the rodents are germ and disease carriers, advised health officials here in their letter, to wage an endless war with the view of exterminating them.

According to the state board, the destruction of rats and mice is a big step in combating the spread of the bubonic plague in the United States. Although the disease has reached no alarming proportions in Ohio, they advised precautionary measures.

Dr. C. M. Tarr, health officer, in his report to the health board, states that there were 7 deaths in the city during the month of June; 25 births, 12 males and 13 females. Six cases of contagious diseases were reported.

Robert Wilson Dead

MUNICIPAL PLAYLOT MAY BE ESTABLISHED

Plans now under consideration by city council provide for the establishment of a municipal playground on the George Aton property at Fifteenth street and Buckeye avenue.

To afford recreation and amusement for the children of the west end of the city, who ordinarily are unable to enjoy the advantages offered by the American Sheet and Tin Plate company's new play ground in the east end of the city is the purpose of the solons.

Although no definite plans have been adopted, it is said that the playground proposal will be carried out if residents of that section of the town make no protest.

There is approximately an acre of land in the plot offered the city for playground purposes. It is proposed to raise the money for the equipment of the grounds by popular subscription. It is estimated that it would require at least $3,000 to properly equip it.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

LEAD N Y STOCKS—fri v'6

NEW YORK, August 2.—A wave of selling came into the stock market during the early afternoon today, forcing losses of from one to over six points in the principal issues. The continued advance of the Bolshevik forces into Poland was used as a factor in hammering down prices.

The heaviest losses were sustained in the steel group. The railroad shares, after their response to the announcement of the rate increases, sold off from one to two points from the early high levels.

Steel common declined to a new low record for the year of 86½, a loss of 2½ from the opening. Vanadium Steel dropped six points to 63 and Baldwin four points to 109.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The rate advances granted to the railroads by the interstate commerce commission were reflected in gains or from one to three points in the railroad group at the opening of the stock market today.

Reading rose two points to 91½; Southern Pacific 2½ to 93½; Northern Pacific 2½ to 74; Baltimore and Ohio 2½ to 32½; Union Pacific 2½ to 118; New York Central 3½ to 72; Rock Island 2½ to 37½ and New Haven 2½ to 31½.

The industrial list was carried forward by the advance in the rails at the start, but sold off sharply immediately after.

Steel common gained one point to 89 but quickly lost this upturn. Baldwin Locomotive after selling up 2½ to 113, dropped to 111½ and Republic Steel, after its advance of one point to 86, slumped to 83½.

U. S. Rubber was in supply and after selling up 1½ to 89 yielded to 85½. Studebaker advanced 1½ to 66 with a quick decline to 64½. Mexican Petroleum rose one point to 181 and then sold off to 179½. Pan American Petroleum rose 1½ to 97½ but soon lost this gain.

Advances of over two points were made by International Paper and Barrett Company.

BILLOTO FACES MURDER COUNT

Alleged Slayer of Campolo
Cousins Will Be Arraigned Tuesday.

Francesco Billoto, Uhrichsville, alleged slayer of Dominic and Joseph Campolo, cousins, this city, will be arraigned before Probate Judge S. W. Crawford in Lisbon Tuesday at 9 o'clock on a first degree murder charge.

Attorney Frank Grosshans, counsel for the accused, requested a hearing when Billoto was brought before Judge Crawford Saturday. Billoto is held without bond, the two charges of second degree murder preferred against him in the court of Mayor J. S. Wilson here having been changed to first degree murder by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Jesse C. Hanley a few days ago.

Bond for Mrs. Lena Pasquella of Cleveland, a domestic in the home of Dominic Campolo and an eye witness of the double shooting, will be increased from $2,500 to $5,000 when she is arraigned before Judge Crawford Tuesday. The woman is being held as a material witness.

Akron — Because the Akron school board has been the "goat" in numerous transactions and contractors have repeatedly "bled" the board by finding loopholes in contracts, the result being that jobs cost about twice as much as contracted for, the board has adopted a resolution calling for a formal binding contract hereafter for every job done, regardless of its cost.

M. A. Knight, chairman of the board's construction committee, who introduced the resolution, expressed the belief that faithful observance of this new policy will eliminate opportunity for contractors to "bleed" the board.

TIFFIN PAPER ROOSTS BROWN

Toledoan, Candidate for U. S.
Senator At Primary,
Endorsed.

COLUMBUS, August 2.—Strongly endorsing Walter F. Brown for United States senator, the Tiffin Daily Tribune says:

"Walter F. Brown of Toledo, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, has always been a party worker. He has worked in the ranks of the party, shoulder to shoulder with other party workers. He later attained to leadership in county, district and state campaigns and has been wonderfully effective wherever placed and in performing any duty assigned to him.

In fact, he did not always wait for his work to be mapped out and assigned to him, but usually jumped in and found something to do and did it and did it well. In late years he has become a prominent figure in national politics. In the recent pre-primary presidential campaign he was a hard worker and as usual gave his best efforts in the senator's behalf.

"Walter F. Brown has never asked any great favors at the hands of the party he has served so well and faithfully, despite the fact of his work for it and other seeking political preferment. He has never believed in office outside of his home county and we feel, all things considered, that he is entitled to the senatorship nomination this year. He is fully qualified in every way and to a high degree to represent Ohio in the United States senate."

ABSENT ELECTORS' LAW

Considering newspaper, billboard, placard and other forms of publicity used in connection with any election, the efforts made by party leaders to arouse interest in the issues, together with the passage by the state legislature of measures drafted solely to cover any possible exigency which may arise to prevent an elector from going to the polls, there is no valid excuse for the failure of any male citizen of Ohio to exercise his right of suffrage at a primary or general election.

Aside from the regular registration days in registration cities to enable electors to enroll, the law provides for a special registration for persons who have a good reason for their inability to register on the designated days. And the election board has designated next Saturday, between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m., to hear applications for registration of electors who, because they were more than 50 miles distant from the city on the regular registration days, Friday and Saturday, July 30 and 31, or who were confined to their homes on those two days by illness, were unable to enroll.

Not only is provision made to cover enrollment of voters, but opportunity is given electors to cast their ballots although they may be absent from the city on election day. And the Columbiana county election board announced today that the election board headquarters in the Betz building, Market street, will be open from 7 to 9 p. m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week to receive applications of voters who desire to take advantage of the privileges offered by the absent electors' law. Any elector who makes affidavit to the fact that he will be absent from the city on Tuesday, August 10, the date of the Republican and Democratic primaries, may cast his ballots at the election board headquarters Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday evening.

Despite the publicity given the measure, comparatively few persons avail themselves of the privileges given by this law. Only once since its enactment have many electors accepted the advantages which the statute offers. That was in 1917, when more than 300 soldiers voted before election day. And such a large poll was due to the election board's action in taking the ballots to Columbiana county men who were in the military service at Camps Sherman and Sheridan.

The election board's announcement today of three days of voting under the provisions of the absent electors' law is a reminder of the fact that a qualified male citizen of Ohio need not sacrifice his right to vote at the coming primaries, although he may be absent from his home precinct on Tuesday, August 10. If you expect to be out of the county a week from tomorrow, mail your application for absent voters' supplies to the election board, or appear in person before the board Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday evening of this week.

IDLE RIVERS

Gov. Harding of Iowa, speaking at the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Congress, likened the Mississippi valley to a man on a desert island with a million dollars in gold.

"That vast territory," he said, "the home of 60,000,000 people, producing the major part of the nation's wheat, corn and meat parts of the world." transportation facilities. The best and cheapest facility is that provided naturally. Our immediate problem is to see that this valley is connected properly, in the most economical way, with all parts of the world."

It is really amazing, when one considers what Europe has done with its inland waterways, that so little has been accomplished for natural transportation in the great Mississippi valley, the richest area in all the world. The Great Lakes chain has been far more fully utilized, owing largely to the fact that it required less improvement. The possibilities of the St. Lawrence, now much discussed, have never yet been properly appreciated. Much also remains to be done, as Senator Pointdexter has pointed out, with the waterways of the Northwest, to give that vast, rich region an adequate outlet for its products.

Some day the United States may wake up and spend on transportation as much as it spent on the last war. There could be no better investment. In the meantime the expenditure of about 5 per cent would have a tremendous effect on American prosperity.

EXIT DOBBIN

Ohio may consider presidential candidates the stylish thing to have this season, but when it comes to horses she is inclined to view their day as done.

Once upon a time there was a "Sandusky County Horse Owners' Mutual Protective Association," chartered by the buckeye state. Recently it was re-chartered. Its new name is the "Sandusky County Automobile Mutual Protective Association."

Exit hoofs, enter gasoline. The new age is at hand. Almost every former horse owner who belonged to this association, say members, now owns an automobile. Behold the country cross-roads town hall of a Saturday evening. It is given over to dancing. Strains of music float out from within. Without do horses gnaw the hitching rail? They do not. There is no hitching rail, and every Jack has brought his Jill in a car. Way down the roadside they are parked. Most farms nowadays seem to have two cars—a flivver runabout or light truck in which the farmer gets about his business, and a big car for the family's outings.

One may feel sentimental about the good old equine friends that are no more, but unquestionably the gas-horse is more efficient, takes less labor, especially in winter time, and increases the family health and happiness. Sparrows and flies are lessening in numbers with the disappearance of the horses from the streets and stables. We can bid those pests farewell without a tear.

While Ohio and Virginia quarrel as to their respective merits as mothers of presidents, New York and Indiana may fight it out as to which is the veritable mother of vice-presidents.

NEW YORK LETTER

By O. O. McINTYRE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—An esteemed morning Park Row newspaper came very nearly being the victim of a hoax last week that would have made it the laughing stock of the town. The deception was discovered after the story was in type and ready to burst forth on the front page.

Several weeks ago after the final edition had gone to press a queer looking visitor with a magician's goatee and thin curly mustache drifted into the editorial rooms. He announced himself as a miracle man and blazed reporters and copy-readers gathered around him to josh him along.

He claimed to be able to make material things move by thought forces. He began with a deck of cards which was purchased by an office boy down stairs. By throwing himself into a frenzy and gesticulating wildly certain cards in the deck would creep out and leap to the floor and then dance about wildly.

The closest scrutiny failed to reveal any apparatus. He would take any coin presented and going through the wild contortions would soon have it hopping about like a Mexican bean. He feigned complete exhaustion after his stunts. The entire editorial staff was amazed but skeptical. They wanted further proof.

The next day the performance was repeated with cards and coins especially selected, under a glaring spotlight and some of the college professors on hand to see what they could see. No trickery could be found and the apparent condition in which the miracle man was left after giving the performance increased the faith.

On the day before the story of New York's amazing Miracle Man was to be printed, it was decided to hold another performance. The coins skipped and danced and the cards jumped and floated through the air. While one card was making a leap from the table to the floor an office boy grabbed it.

The hoax was discovered. The card was attached to a bit of wax to which was attached a tiny long hair which could not be seen three inches away. The other end of the hair was fastened to a piece of wax on the miracle man's finger. That was why he had to make motions wildly over the objects to start them leaping about. It is one of the oldest tricks of magicians it is said.

learned and yet a great metropolitan journal nearly fell for it.

An express elevated train made a brief stop between stations the other evening at the home-going rush hour. On either side of the street were rows of office buildings. A pretty stenographer chanced to look down into one of the offices. Four men were seated around a table upon which was a bottle of Scotch. Four small glasses had been filled. They were about to drink them when one looked up and saw the girl in the train. He lifted his glass to her and so did the others in mock solemnity and drank to her health while she blushed delightfully and smiled. Then the train gave a big lurch and moved on.

It developed at a fashionable tennis match on Long Island the other day that three sons of multi-millionaire society men had tattooed arms and breasts. The boys were in the navy and when they touched the Azores a tattoo specialist visited the boat and they decided to be decorated. All refused, however, to pose for an enterprising news photographer who was present.

CITY BRIEFS

Charges of Fighting Dismissed.

Charges of fighting against C. C. Wells, truck driver, and Louis Jannozzo, Pennsylvania railroad switch foreman, were dismissed when the men were arraigned before Mayor J. S. Wilson Sunday afternoon.

Wells sustained a broken rib and Jannozzo a badly battered face in the conflict which occurred in the Horn Switch early Saturday afternoon. The two were arrested by Patrolman Norman McFarland.

Removed from Hospital.

John Huddleston, 15-year-old automobile accident victim, was removed from the City hospital to his home in Sophia street Sunday. The lad sustained a fractured skull in a collision between a bicycle on which he was riding and an automobile in Bradshaw avenue four weeks ago. His condition is still doubtful, it is said.

Motorcycle Damaged by Fire.

A motorcycle owned by Roy Anderson, Ephraim street, was badly damaged by fire when it stalled at the corner of Vine street and Ambrose avenue at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

A leak in the gasoline tank allowed the fuel to drip over the motor. A spark from the engine ignited the escaping gasoline and in a few minutes the machine was enveloped in flames. Efforts of residents in the vicinity to extinguish the blaze with water proved futile and sand was effectively used.

COLUMBUS—In an auto, four striking linemen, recent employees at the municipal and Rail-light electric plants, were trailing a line repair outfit when the driver of the truck on which the six men constituting the repair outfit were riding abruptly halted his machine. This crowded the auto with the strikers into a ditch.

The half dozen linemen, it is claimed, then jumped off the truck and beat up the strikers with clubs. The strikers swore out warrants against their assailants.

Piqua—Unless communications sent to the police department bear the name of the writer, they will be thrown into the waste basket. This announcement has been made by Chief of Police Gehle. He stated that anonymous letters will receive no attention.

Assurance has been given by Chief Gehle that the name of any persons desiring to give information to the police will be kept secret.

ARREST MAN IN ROPE THEFT

Joseph Boards Confesses, Implicating Others, Police Declare.

The theft of a quantity of heavy rope or cable, which disappeared from a box car at the Chester Panhandle railroad station about July 15, was cleared up Saturday following the arrest of Joseph Boards, of upper Chester, a former employee of the railroad company. Boards was taken into custody by four Pennsylvania railroad detectives and Officer Tom Arrington, of the federal prohibition enforcement office, all of Wheeling.

According to the authorities, Boards made a confession in which the names of alleged accomplices were mentioned. After his confession, he was fined $30 fine and given a jail sentence of 30 days, the latter being suspended. The hearing was held before Justice A. G. Allison Saturday night.

The enforcement of the national prohibition act was responsible for Boards' apprehension. The railroad detectives have been working on a number of railroad thefts here for the past several weeks but not until last week was Boards suspected.

Believing that the man was also operating a moonshine still, a search warrant was secured and the four detectives accompanied by Officer Arrington arrived here Saturday for a search of the Boards' home, located in the upper end of Chester.

Hidden in the attic of the house was found the missing coils of rope, under a pile of old clothing, although no evidence of a still could be found. Mr. Boards was taken to the office of Justice A. G. Allison, where it is alleged he made a confession, admitting the robbery and at the same time he is alleged to have implicated other persons. Further arrests are expected.

The theft of the rope, in June was one of a series of railroad robberies which have been committed during the last few weeks. About two weeks ago, a box car containing smoked meats was broken into at Fifth street and goods valued at more than $100 was stolen.

SEIZE RAISIN JACK IN COLLIERIES RAID

Thirteen barrels of raisin-jack and other intoxicants were seized by United States federal prohibition agents in a raid at Colliers, Brooke county, Friday, in which more than 60 homes were visited by Deputy State Prohibition Enforcement Officer Bert Phillips and a force of deputies from Wheeling.

The raid at Colliers, a mining town, is said to have been the largest since the national prohibition measure be-

1 DEAD, 1 DYING IN SHOOTING

Two Others Wounded In Gun Fight At Weirton.

One man is dead, another fatally wounded, a third severely but less dangerously hurt and a fourth slightly wounded as a result of a shooting affair at Weirton about 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening.

The dead: DOMINIC MONACULA, Serbian laborer; expired in Ohio Valley hospital at Steubenville from effects of a bullet, which struck him in the hip and penetrated his abdomen.

Fatally wounded: GEORGE HEARTS, bleeding internally, with bullet through right lung; will not survive the night.

Wounded: PETE STUCKOUGE, bullet wound under right arm; expected to recover.

UNKNOWN SERBIAN, wounded in little finger of one hand.

All of the principals in the fray were Serbian laborers, who were located in Camp No. 5 of Weirton's Construction company of Weirton. Police authorities at Weirton and Steubenville said over the long distance telephone that the men were gambling and drinking "raisin jack."

Mike Bosish, who is alleged to have fired the shots, wounding the four, made his escape down the Panhandle railroad tracks toward East Steubenville and made his getaway in the dark. Weirton and Steubenville police are engaged in a manhunt for the assailant.

The three most severely wounded were rushed to the Ohio Valley hospital at Steubenville, where Monacula died.

Stuckouge bled profusely from a bullet wound under the arm, but the hemorrhage was stopped and nurses expected his recovery.

The fourth man who was wounded in the finger did not report his name to the authorities, and did not go to the hospital for treatment.

The shooting victims and their assailant were employed in the construction of the big mill at Weirton.

The Chester Mill of the Faulk Brothers Milling company was struck by lightning during the severe rain, wind and electrical storm which swept this section shortly before 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. A section of the roof of the building was torn loose by the bolt.

Most of the employees of the mill were not in the main part of the mill when it was struck, having taken shelter under a shed which extends along the front of the building. Samuel H. Faulk, one of the owners, was standing almost directly under the section which was struck.

The mill was filled with smoke and dust following the flash, although no fire occurred. The damage was slight.

Moves Household Goods. The household goods of Nick Poloski and family were today moved from Chester to Pollansbee, where the family will reside. Mr. Poloski has accepted a position in the Pollansbee mills.

Basket Picnic at Park. The "Lucky Thirteen" an organization of Chester young ladies will give the second of their series of basket picnics at Rock Springs Park Tuesday evening. Each member has been privileged to invite one friend.

Following the supper, the young ladies will enjoy a swimming party if the weather is favorable. Later they will dance at the pavilion.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore McClain of New Brighton were guests at the home of Mayor and Mrs. James L. Mayhew of Indiana avenue, Sunday.

Mansfield—For emergency purposes, the Mansfield Telephone company will install a 25-horse power gas-engine in its basement.

It is proposed to use the engine in furnishing power when the electrical power is off. The company now has to suspend business when the electrical power is off.

Columbus—As the result of selling the same load of hay twice, the Columbus Baby Camp will benefit from the $150 thus raised.

The two tons of hay, auctioned off in front of the state house, was harvested by seven Columbus men. Knocked down to the highest bidder, the load of hay was first sold for $115 to Ike Goldberg who gave it back to Municipal Judge Ruth, auctioneer. The judge promptly sold it again for $75.

Voters who are ill or for any valid reason cannot vote at the polls may take advantage of the absent voters' law, election board officials said.

A special registration for persons who were 50 miles or more from their voting place on the last registration days or who "by due diligence" could not qualify for the primaries, will be held Saturday afternoon, August 7, from 2 to 4 o'clock at election board headquarters.

REPAIRING PANHANDLE RAILROAD TRACKS

Extensive changes are being made along the Panhandle railroad lines in the vicinity of New Cumberland Junction. For nearly one week plows and scoops have been used freely to plow down the bank and scoop the ground away for filling purposes.

It is generally conceded that it is the intention of the railroad officials to do away with the sharp curve in the tracks at this point and so minimize railroad fatalities. And the flat meadow land lying between the tracks and Harmon's creek is to be lifted up many feet so as to accommodate many cars.

The freight yards at Collier will eventually be transferred to this, and will stretch from the Junction down of Pennsylvania will be among the Junction.

"I was falling off so fast that I became alarmed over my condition and knew I must do something," said Mr. J. E. McHenry, a popular roller at the National Drawn Steel company, East Liverpool, O.

"I was getting pretty weak and my work was getting next to me. I knew I had a sluggish liver for I often saw black spots dancing before my eyes and also bilious headaches and a foul breath. My bowels were bound up and my kidneys were weak and painful. I slept very poorly and my appetite was quite poor. Every morning I'd get up feeling drowsy, dull and had no energy to tackle my job.

"Reading every day about Drecto and what people said it was doing for them I decided to give it a trial for I had taken about everything I knew of."

"The first bottle did me a lot of good so I got the second and its remarkable how much better I feel. Why every morning I get up feeling refreshed from a sound sleep full of energy to do a hard day's work. My kidneys have been strengthened and my liver thoroughly cleansed. I eat big hearty meals and my stomach digests it well. My bowels are regular and I never have the spots before my eyes. It was a lucky day for me when I first started on Drecto, for I have gained 35 pounds by the scales."

Any remedy that restores the natural functions of the human body is a health-making remedy. The use of Drecto, the great herb medicine, tends to restore the appetite, to procure natural digestion, which is followed by an increased circulation and nutrition of the whole body. Lean, haggard, bloodless people begin to gain weight, strength and flesh at once from taking Drecto, as they themselves declare in signed testimonials.

All good druggists now sell Drecto and it is being especially introduced in East Liverpool by Flick's drug store, corner Fifth and Market streets.

NEWELL CHURCHES TO JOIN JONES REVIVAL

Newell's four Protestant churches will take part in the Bob Jones evangelistic campaign to be conducted in East Liverpool Sept. 5 to Oct. 3, inclusive.

A series of preparatory prayer services will be held in Newell during the month of August. The town has been divided into five districts and by the present plan cottage prayer services will be held in each of these districts every Tuesday and Friday from August 1 to Sept. 5. Similar cottage prayer services will be held during the morning hours, while the revivals are in progress.

During the revival campaign, no services will be held in the Newell churches, with the exception of Sunday school and young people's meeting. All evening preaching services will be suspended. On the first and last Sundays of the meetings, the morning preaching services will also be eliminated. On the other three Sundays there will be no tabernacle meetings.

The revival will be conducted in a huge building to be erected on the Taylor lot, West Sixth street. Evangelist Jones will bring with him a corps of workers, including choir directors, singers and other assistants.

G. C. C. Club Dance.

The regular bimonthly dance of the G. C. C. club, Newell, will be held in the I. O. O. F. headquarters in the Aaron building Monday evening. The hours will be from 8 to 11.

Outing at Echo Dell.

A party of Newell people enjoyed an outing near Echo Dell, seven miles northwest of East Liverpool, Sunday, the trip being made by truck. Both dinner and supper were served during the day. The hours were spent in bathing and other outdoor pastimes.

Those making up the party included Clyde Carson and family, William Booth and family, Ivan Booher and family, E. M. Ellis and family, William Sexton and family, Alvin Thornberry and family and D. M. Kline and family.

Coal for New England.

West Virginia coal fields east of Huntington must furnish 85,000 tons of coal to New England a month.

That is the substance of an order effective August 2, issued by the interstate commerce commission, in which provisions for coal for New England totalling 1,200,000 tons a month are made. To accomplish this order, approximately 70 open top cars must be used by the C. & O. each day. The car supply still continues about 50 per cent normal, it was announced.

AN OVERBURDENED WIFE.

If the work that women do and the pains they suffer could be measured in figures, what a terrible array they would present. Through girlhood, wifehood and motherhood woman toils on, often suffering with backache, pains in side, headaches and nervousness which are tell-tale symptoms of organic derangements which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—made from roots and herbs—can undoubtedly correct. Women who suffer should not give up hope until they have given it a trial.

WOMAN IS SERVICE INSPECTOR OF BIG WESTERN RAILROAD

Mrs. Adele B. Price.

Inspector of service for the Santa Fe railroad, covering approximately 4,000 miles on its western divisions and looking after the welfare of more than 800 women in its employ, is the unique position now occupied by Mrs. Adele B. Price, former Hollywood matron. Mrs. Price was formerly women's club president and teacher of music.

Trolley Car-Auto Collision.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Alvis of Sixth street, Newell, narrowly escaped injury about 7 o'clock Sunday evening when an eastbound trolley car struck the automobile in which they were riding at the corner of Market and Fifth street, East Liverpool.

Alvis, driving the machine, noticed the street car, bound for East End, coming toward Fifth street along Market, but believing it to be a Cheater car attempted to drive in front of it. The automobile was badly damaged by the impact, although neither Mr. nor Mrs. Alvis, the only occupants of the auto, were injured.

POTTERY NEWS
METHODS USED IN JAP PLANTS

Process of Manufacturing In Potteries In Orient is Described by William Burgess

(Editor's note—This is the 13th installment of the observations of the ceramic industry in Japan and China, from the pen of William Burgess, first vice president of the United States Pottery Association. The concluding chapter will appear in an early issue of this newspaper.)

BY WILLIAM BURGESS
The process of manufacture in China is very similar to that described in the old methods in Japan. Three methods are used for making various articles. Some are thrown on the wheel, some pressed by mold, and others cast.

The throwing process is extremely primitive and interesting. The wheel is about two feet in diameter, is also mounted on a pin which rotates on a block set in the ground so that the upper surface of the wheel is only a few inches above the ground. The potter sits on a low stool.

At his left, close to the wheel, is a flat dish about 10 inches in diameter partly filled with rice straw ashes, and at his right, also close to the wheel, is a vessel containing water. With his left hand he picks up the ball of clay, and with his right hand dips up a little water to moisten the clay. The wet clay is then put on the wheel, which is turned by the assistant. Working from the center out, he shapes the vessel, holding his thumbs in and his fingers out.

The assistant, generally a boy, propels the wheel by striking the upper surface with his right foot as he swings it back, a running motion but only with one leg. Before giving the first impulse to the wheel, he picks up a lump of clay, which he rolls into a ball while kicking the wheel. He then throws the ball into the dish at the potter's left and this process is repeated indefinitely.

In all other countries, the making of angular cups is made from an outside mold, but in this particular locality, it is made from an inside mold. It is first made very thick and then gradually cut thin with a knife.

The ware is glazed in its clay state. Some articles are dipped in the usual manner, others, particularly small articles, have a glaze poured over the surface. Still another method, where the articles are irregular in shape, the glaze is applied with a brush or is blown on. This blowing process is accomplished by the use of a tube with one end covered with coarse cloth. The glaze is poured into this tube and with the mouth the glaze is forced through in a spray upon the article. The latter process has the reputation of being injurious to the blower's lungs.

The burning or firing process in China is similar to that in Japan, although there are a number of large kilns, each having its own individual stack. These kilns are built in a very crude way and have to be renewed every year or two. One interesting feature is that over the doors of these kilns there sits an image of the God of Wind and Fire whom the fireman always stoops to worship after cleaning up and before each firing begins. The time consumed in firing is about three days.

In drawing the ware from the kilns, the men do so under very great heat, covering their heads and backs with wet cloths to protect them from the heat. This they do so as to rapidly fill the kiln after the ware has been drawn, thus to utilize the remaining heat for the thorough drying of the ware.

Chinese use all the various methods of decorating with the possible exception of Decolomania. The great bulk of their work, however, copper plate printing, hand painting and tinting. About 20 percent of all employed in the industry are women.

The Chinese officials and some of the leading business men are not satisfied with the thought of losing this great industry from their country and efforts are being put forth to bring the industry up to date.

In the Jao Chow district particularly, the people have become very enthusiastic over the porcelain and pottery industry. Four or five years ago the Commission of Industries of Kiangsi started a school of ceramics and

The manufacturing of same under the name of the Klankel Porcelain Industrial Company. This school term is five years. There are at present over 60 students under instruction. A number of teachers at the school are graduates from the industrial schools in Japan. There are chemical and testing laboratories for research work. The work produced is of excellent quality. Exhibition of this ware was made at the Panama Exhibition and received awards for fine workmanship.

They are also producing, at this big school, excellent work in the way of engraved copper plates. Some of the oldest and finest Chinese decorators are employed as teachers in this school.

Just before the close of the last dynasty, effort was being made to arouse greater interest in the preserving of this industry to the state.

The following Memorial to the Throne submitted by the Minister of Agriculture and Commerce on the organization of the Superintendent's Porcelain Office at Chingtechen will indicate their concern at that time.

"This Ministry respectfully requests the approval of Your Majesty of a set of regulations for the Porcelain Superintendent's Office and an estimate of expenditure of the establishment, as forwarded to us by the Superintendent of Porcelain Factories in Chingtechen."

"Some time ago on receipt of instructions from the State Department this Ministry returned the reports and suggestions to the Superintendent of Porcelain Factories at Chingtechen for enforcement. Now we have received from him more detailed reports on the organization of his office, the staff and estimate of expenditures, and regulations governing the office. Upon investigation, this Ministry has found that the suggestions, regarding the control of the official houses for the use of storing porcelain samples and the establishment of the Superintendent's office are practical and should be enforced. In the said office there are two sections, consisting of 16 officers, with a monthly expenditure of $1,300. The repairs and other extraordinary expenditures cost $3,000. As the above expenditures are necessary for the establishment of the office, we recommend that they may be approved and that the Ministry of Finance be instructed to issue the amount.

"The State Department has been instructed to issue the following receipt: 'The regulations are hereby approved and the Ministry of Finance is to issue the necessary amount.'"

Cheap At Double the Money

You know what kind of houses the birds build for themselves: "Cheep, Cheep," they say, as they build their leafy nests.

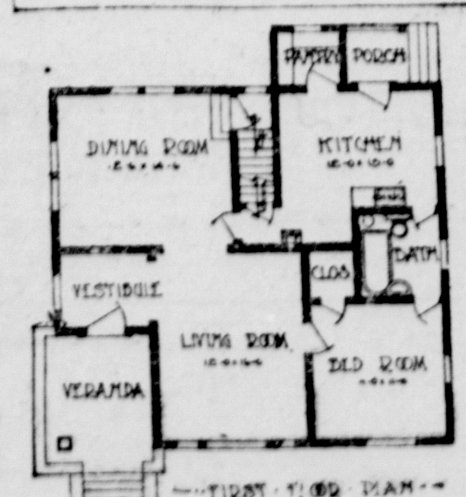

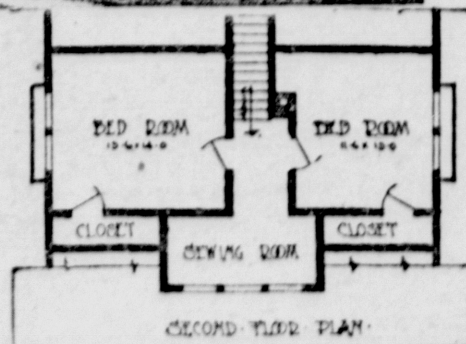

The house-plan shown here is "cheep, cheep," as far as money outlay is concerned. But it gives every advantage found in most houses costing double the price.

There's lots of room in this style of house, but not a speck of room wasted, all rumors to the contrary notwithstanding.

Note the clever way the pantry is placed outside the kitchen.

The sewing room on the second floor can be used as a fresh air sleeping room.

When you build this house your neighbors will think you spent two dollars every time you really spent one.

Are High Prices
To Stay?

The public today is asking if present price levels are to continue. Nobody knows to a certainty, but in one branch of industry the answer is plainly indicated. The price of natural gas service will undoubtedly be higher rather than lower. With the demands of the public becoming greater and greater and new supplies of natural gas becoming more and more difficult to provide, the problem for all concerned becomes one of great importance. The gas companies are expending large additional sums of money necessary to prosecute a diligent search for this ideal fuel and consumers are urged to do away with all wasteful and impractical appliances.

"Planing"—Newest Stroke in Swift Swimming.

A Valuable and Instructive Lesson in the Art of Hydroplaning, or Gliding Over the Water, Instead of Through It, Which Many American Swimmers Are Now Using With Surprising Speed Results.

1—Start of the Top Arm Stroke in Swimming the Trudgeon Crawl. This Photograph Illustrates Correctly the Position to Assume for Planing in Swimming.

By L. de B. Handley

ONE of the most important recent developments in the field of watermanship has been the successful application of the principle of hydroplaning to the swimming stroke.

Students of the art of natation realized long ago that if the means could be evolved to glide partly over the water, instead of entirely through it, resistance would be minimized, enabling man to exploit more adequately his natural resources. But the problem presented many difficulties and little of a practical nature was done to solve it until Duke Kahanamoku, the famous Hawaiian swimmer, began to amaze the world with his sensational sporting performances.

Kahanamoku swam with shoulders well above surface, seeming to climb his way along, and his wonderful speed convinced experts that they had at last found something tangible upon which to base experiments in hydroplaning. So they set to work.

Results have been interesting and gratifying. It has now been demonstrated that effective planing is merely a question of holding the body in the wanted position and applying correctly the power of arms and legs. Present day contestants of both sexes are swimming higher, as a whole, than ever did their predecessors, and competent judges attribute in large measure to this, the very material improvement witnessed in average performances at all distances in competition.

Position of Body for "Planing"

Undoubtedly, we owe to the introduction of the crawl stroke the progress made. One of the requirements essential to successful planing is that the swimmer's advance be continuous, for any check in the momentum will obviously cause momentary sinking, and for this purpose the various styles of crawl and trudgeon-crawl are eminently fitted, since they can be adjusted so as to yield almost constant propulsion from both arms and legs.

In fact, recent modifications in the arm action of these strokes—it is the same in all—allows each arm to take up the propelling before the other has completed its drive, while the leg thrash, particularly with a six-beat kick, affords steady impulse. At the same time, resistance is virtually eliminated from the negative movements, for the arms recover above surface and the legs are never opened wide enough, nor bent sufficiently at knees or ankles, to cause stoppage.

The body position prescribed for planing is the same one assumes in standing upright on tiptoe. That is, with head erect, back a trifle arched, legs close and feet pointed. When the swimmer is stretched out on the water this position entails a gentle curve from head to toes. It causes the body to work up toward the surface as soon as momentum is imparted to it.

The arms get alternately. Each reaches out to comfortable extension over its own shoulder—elbow a little higher than hand, forearm and hand aligned, palm down and flat, fingers and thumb touching—then enters the water at a point which will give it a direct down and back course to the front of the thigh. The start of the drive, or catch, is made with good downward pressure, the aim being to lift the shoulder, instead of allowing it to follow the arm under water. Then the power is increased steadily, that full force may be exerted in mid-drive. At first the arm is held fairly straight, but on nearing the perpendicular the elbow is bent a bit, having care to do the pulling in a manner to keep the forearm and hand at right angles to the surface nearly to the end of the pull. By this method, it will be noted, the forearm and hand retain their grip on the water, throughout. In the straight-arm pull advocated formerly, instead, the movement was upward in the second half of the drive and tended to draw down the body, rather than urge it ahead.

How the Arms Are Used

When the backward sweep of the arm leads it to the surface the muscles are relaxed completely and the hand is thrust away from the body, turning palm down simultaneously. Next the forearm circles around until it points ahead. Then the elbow is set in motion and the whole arm moves forward very slowly, a few inches only above water, the forearm starting to slant downward gradually after the hand passes the shoulder line.

This recovery is quite free from strain and enables the body to retain perfect swimming balance. In order to perform it faultlessly, however, the hand must be turned palm down immediately on leaving the water and the elbow must not be advanced at all until the forearm has swept around to point forward. Needless to say, there should be no muscular tension from the moment the arm completes its drive to when it dips again for another pull.

Correct spacing of the arm movements is necessary to avoid any break in the continuity of the propelling force and care should be had to catch with each arm just before the other comes to the surface in recovery. Then there will be no idle period. Swimmers will best acquire the wanted timing by trying to feel that they are lifting themselves with the catch of one arm to facilitate the clean withdrawal of the other from the water.

Breathing is correlated so closely with the arm movements in using the crawl strokes, and the work of the head in the respiratory acts affects to such a marked degree the entire stroke, that a few words need be said on the subject before proceeding to the leg drive.

As well known, breathing is done in these strokes by inhaling through the mouth during the recovery of the upper arm and exhaling through the nostrils, under water, during the pull of the same arm.

Now it has been stated already that for effective planing the head must be held erect, but it should be emphasized here that this means on the same level always. In other words, it should be twisted only for breathing, not bent and raised, nor slanted to either side. And it is equally important to time its movements accurately, or a number of faults may be incurred.

The proper way is to wait until the under arm has caught before turning to inhale and not resume normal position until the upper arm has caught. To put it differently, the head should be in normal position throughout the drive of the upper arm and twisted toward said arm throughout its recovery. If it is turned too soon in either direction the shoulder it turns from will find itself without support, for the arm on that side will be gliding forward in recovery. Lacking support the shoulder must drop at the urge of the turning head, upsetting the balance of the body and causing the recovering arm to attain full reach with an upward slant. The result is increased resistance, loss of form and, above all, waste of energy, for the power applied at the catch cannot become effective until the arm has assumed a downward slant.

The Scissors Kick

For the purpose of planing, the less body roll incurred the better. It is necessary, of course, to roll sufficiently to keep the feet submerged in performing the wider scissor kicks, or there will be loss of leverage, but more than that should be avoided.

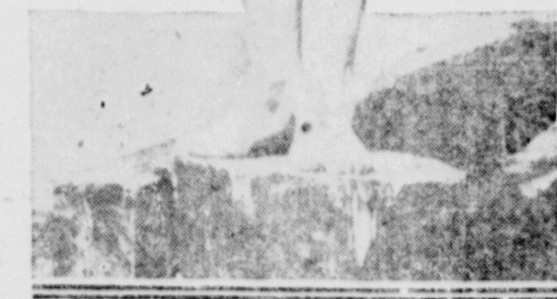

The leg drive is the chief factor in learning to plane, for the excellent reason that the legs have a strong tendency to sink and drag down the body, which must be overcome. This may be accomplished by resorting to any four or six-movement thrash of the crawl type, but the great majority of experts favor the drive of the six-beat double trudgeon-crawl, as affording better propulsion than any other.

For those not familiar with the technical points of difference in the several leg drives widely in use these days, it should be explained that all crawl and trudgeon-crawl thrashes are based on the same fundamental unit. This is the so-called scissor kick, executed by opening the legs front and back—very much like taking a short step on tiptoe without bending the knee—then snapping them together. The difference, therefore, is simply one of width of scissors and speed of action.

In all the foregoing strokes the legs alternate in position for the successive scissors and the result is a more or less rapid thrash, varying in rhythm, but in which one leg always whips down as the other whips up.

In the crawl proper the thrash is narrow and of even scope; in the single trudgeon-crawl the scissor occurring at the end of the upper arm drive is made wider and more vigorous than the others, giving the action a strong single rhythm; in the double trudgeon-crawl two of the wider kicks are introduced, one at the end of each arm pull, thus imparting to the drive a distinct double rhythm. With all three of these thrashes any even number of kicks per full stroke of the two arms will afford synchronous action, but devotees of the single trudgeon-crawl affect a four-beat drive mostly, while exponents of the crawl and double trudgeon-crawl seem to prefer the six-beat as a general rule.

It will be understood readily why swimming authorities advocate the six-beat double rhythm drive for planing, since its action is more continuous than that of the two or four-beat and the propelling power greater than developed by the six-beat of narrow even scope or featured by one major scissor only.

The one claim at first raised against it, that its two wider kicks made it too tiring for the longer distances, has been proved totally unwarranted. It was shown after a short trial that by reducing the speed of the arm action the six-beat double trudgeon-crawl could be used successfully over any course, even by women and very young girls.

Probably the most convincing illustration of this fact is the remarkable work done in competition by Miss Aileen Riggins, the 13-year-old aquatic prodigy of the New York Women's Swimming Association. She is a tiny tot, weighing barely 75 pounds, yet she has displayed ability to race successfully at all distances, up to several miles, with full grown rivals. Last summer, at the age of 12, she finished among the leaders in a three-mile marathon swim for women in the Delaware river. More recently she has been credited with performances quite amazing in one of her age and size. For instance, she covered 200 yards recently in 2 minutes 50 seconds, or at the rate of about 3 minutes 6 seconds for the furlong. Miss Fannie Durack, the noted Sydney swimmer, won the 220-yard championship of Australia in 3 minutes 22.5 seconds a few months earlier.

Little Miss Riggins has mastered admirably the art of planing and she not only skims over the water with the six-beat double trudgeon-crawl, but her swimming is so smooth and easy that it looks absolutely effortless. Nor can there be any labor attached to it, or a frail lassie of her years could never have achieved what she has.

For the rest, the success of Miss Riggins is only one of many bits of evidence available. Several of her young team-mates, girls ranging in age from 10 to 15, all addicted to the same stroke, have performed brilliantly in all around competition with adults. So there is no longer any doubt that the effective use of the once condemned leg drive is solely a matter of sufficient practice to accustom the muscles to the action. Any style of swimming which immature maids, some mere children, have been able to use comfortably over all courses should certainly not test excessively the physical powers of members of the stronger sex.

Two things, in particular, need be impressed on those who would take advantage of the hydroplaning principle in swimming: First, that a rapid stroke does not make for success; second, that a violent leg drive is totally unnecessary.

A great many swimmers have the idea that in using the crawl strokes a whirlwind action is desirable. They thrash along wildly and soon exhaust themselves. As matter of fact best results are attained by making the arm movements

COST COUNTY $1,842 TO PAY SHEEP CLAIMS

Dogs Killed 133 and Injured 49 Sheep During Year.

42 CLAIMS ARE ALLOWED

Center and Hanover Townships Lead In Awards Granted.

BY M. K. ZIMMERMAN

It cost Columbiana county $1,842.75 during the last 12 months ending June 30 last to have 133 sheep killed and 49 injured by dogs. Of the 42 claims paid during this period, 24 were originated in Center and Hanover townships.

Included in this amount is $201.30 for death or injury to hogs by dogs, the total amount paid out during the term being the largest for years. Only one claim was filed from Liverpool and Yellow Creek townships, but it is recounted that in these two townships fewer sheep are to be found than in any other of the 18 townships in the county.

Four claims were paid which originated in Perry township.

Funds for the payment of these loss claims is obtained from the dog license fund, for which over $5,000 has so far been collected this year. From this collection $2,500 has been turned over to the credit of the township school fund.

The largest claim filed was by J. F. Spidel of Hanover township for $149. He had five sheep killed and eight injured. The small claim paid was that to Milton Miller in Centre township. He received $9.05.

A certain routine is to be followed before a sheep claim can be paid. A provision of law covers this action.

When a sheep is killed by a dog, the owner is required to immediately summon two disinterested witnesses to appraise the sheep. Blanks for this purpose are obtainable from County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton or from Clerk Clark Bowman of the board of county commissioners. Answers to queries on these forms must be written in the blank immediately following the query. Witnesses are then taken before the township trustees where "finishing" details are complied with.

This "loss and damage" blank is then returned to the county auditor, where an exact copy of the returned blank is written in a leather-bound book provided for that purpose.

A statement is then made up and filed with the board of county commissioners for approval and payment. Claims are paid semi-annually, in June and December.

LOCALS WIN IN TEN INNINGS, 3-2

Thrilling Battle Between Independents and Molbrough A. C. Ends In Tenth Inning.

With Pitcher Boggs of the Molbrough A. C. of Wellsville, hurling in superb form and the local slant artist "Hap" Jackson, shooting them across in unapproachable style, Sunday's game at West End park could not do otherwise than please several hundred fans who attended. Other than the splendid exhibition of baseball, fans were pleased that the Independents annexed a 3-2 win after ten hard innings of battling.

The Molbrough aggregation was loaded in fine style for yesterday's game. Boggs, who toed the slab against the locals, was secured from the Homestead Grays, of Pennsylvania, one of the leading semi-professional clubs in the western section of the state, and his performance ably bespoke his ability.

The Independents went into the lead early in the game securing a tally in the opening stanza when a couple of errors, a hit, and two passed balls permitted Alf Bailey to cross the final point. In the fifth the visitors tied the score and the count remained one-all until the ninth inning when the Molbrough A. C. too kthe lead. Boggs, first up, filed out to Bailey and Sumerville, the big first baseman, knocked the horseshoe for the first homer of the game. Mashaw went out, Watson to Mundy and Smith grounded out to Jackson. In the tenth inning the Independents put across the winning counter after the Molbrough club went scoreless in its half. Mundy got on, on a fielder's choice, a base on balls to Pollock advanced him and a single by Ed Bailey sent him to the plate with the third run.

The Independents will meet the Bridgewater club here next Sunday.

Three games will be played, says Dickey, beginning Wednesday evening when the Molbrough A. C. of Wellsville, a club that has recently sprung into popular demand among the clubs of the district, appears at Newell park.

Georgetown, already holding a victory over the Newellites, will visit the Hancock countians Thursday night.

Special arrangements are being made for the accommodation of a large crowd at Saturday afternoon's game when the P. H. C. nine of Wellsville is the scheduled attraction. This will be observed as "boosters day" when an attempt will be made to place the organization on a firm financial foundation.

SCHEDULE OF WEEK'S GAMES

All Local Clubs Active During The Coming Six Days.

The Liberty A. C., on the second week of their schedule under new management, will play the East Liverpool Independents this evening at West End park, according to an announcement by Manager Shel Pyle.

The game will begin at 6 o'clock. The Independents will face the recently organized Northside team at West End park Tuesday night. The Northsiders defeated the Eclipse club 11-3 in six innings, and can be counted on to give the Independents a stiff battle.

The Molbrough A. C. of Wellsville will make their second appearance of the week here Friday night with the Liberty A. C. as their opponents at West End park. The Molbroughs though will not likely put up as strong a lineup as they played with here Sunday.

CANADIAN TO TRY FOR YACHTINGCUP

Alexander Ross Sends Challenge to New York Yacht Club Officials for Title Race In 1922.

TORONTO, Canada, August 2.—Alexander C. Ross, a former member of the Canadian parliament, announced last night he had sent a challenge to the New York Yacht club to compete for the America's cup in the summer of 1922. The challenge, Mr. Ross said, has been sent on behalf of the Nova Scotia yacht squadron and it accepted it is proposed to have the boat designed by a Britisher, built in Canada and manned by Nova Scotia fishermen.

Several British Columbia skippers, Mr. Ross said, have expressed willingness to finance the project. He added, however, that he intends to make the challenge a matter of national interest and that subscriptions will be received from a dollar upward.

Sir Thomas Lipton has been informed of the Canadian challenge, Mr. Ross said, but nothing has been heard from him.

Commodore Amelius Jarvis of Toronto, who was one of Sir Thomas Lipton's advisers, conferred here today with Mr. Ross and intimated his willingness to be the skipper for the next race.

He intimated the cost of the new challenger, which will be christened "The Mapleleaf" at more than $1,000,000. Mr. Ross said it is planned to have the cost of construction paid for by popular subscription.

NEW YORK, August 2.—Alexander C. Ross of Montreal, wealthy mine owner, today telegraphed Commodore J. P. Morgan of the New York Yacht club, challenging to compete for the America's cup in July, 1921, according to the New York World. The challenge was issued on behalf of the Cape Breton Royal and Halifax Yacht clubs of which Ross, a former member of the Canadian parliament, is a life member.

Mr. Ross is quoted as stating that the Canadians will build a boat on the Atlantic coast to be manned by their countrymen and that they will abide by the New York Yacht club rules as to the measurement and cost. A formal challenge is said to be following by letter, which is required under the deed of gift of the cup.

CHEVROLET SETS NEW 100-MILE AUTO MARK

COLUMBUS, August 2.—A new 100-mile world record—89 minutes and 23 seconds—was set up here when Gaston Chevrolet, famous French autoist, won the gentry auto race here yesterday.

This new record is two minutes and seven seconds faster than the dirt track record made by Tom Alley at Minneapolis on July 4, 1914.

Chevrolet achieved his victory yesterday in the Frontenac car which he rode when he won a $10,000 purse and first place in the Indianapolis speedway Memorial day.

Another record—a local one—was broken when 14,758 paid admissions were recorded at the driving park where the race was held under the auspices of the Columbus Auto club.

The race started with Tommy Milton and Ralph Mulford as Chevrolet's competitors. Milton recently smashed records in Florida for the straight-away.

Mulford was out of the contest, due to a broken piston, before he had gone a mile. Milton was four miles back of Chevrolet when the race ended.

His regular job was brushing the dust from Uncle Enoch's moth-eaten jug business for a dollar a day and experience.

His secret side line was a "Pierre and la Peonie" dance in Broadway's classiest cabaret. For $200 a week and the love of a wonderful girl. Until one night—! Come and see why "Ves" gave up dancing and went into the jug business for good.

"TREASURE ISLAND"

BY ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

A Paramount Arcraft Picture

"Fifteen men on the Dead Man's Chest—
Yo-ho-ho, and a bottle of rum!
Drink and the devil had done for the rest—
Yo-ho-ho, and a bottle of rum!"

Dive into the battle with pirates at the Benbow Inn! Shiver at the mutiny of murderous sailors on the good ship Hispaniola! Thrill at the gold-hunters' fight for the Treasure Island stockade! Sail over the Spanish Main, yo-ho, with the wickedest band of bucaniers that ever slit a throat!

Greatest of all adventure stories, greatly pictureized. With its brawling, guzzling rovers of the sea, and all their immortal escapades, done to the life.

Shirley Mason and Lon Chaney—the "Frog" of "The Miracle Man"—in the huge cast.

As exciting as a boy's first circus! As romantic as a girl's first love letter!
